

Lifestyle Coach Convening Scholarship Eligibility

I. Convening Purpose

The purpose of the convening is to share best practices on engaging, enrolling, retaining and supporting populations at greatest risk for type 2 diabetes in the National DPP lifestyle change program. CDC's Division of Diabetes Translation is collaborating with Emory DTTAC to provide 20 scholarships to Lifestyle Coaches to attend the convening.

Interested Lifestyle Coaches will submit an application by June 5, 2025. Awarded applicants must be able to travel to Atlanta, GA by July 7th to attend the conference from July 8-9, 2025.

II. Eligibility

Applicants must:

- a. Have been trained at a training entity that has a current signed MOU with CDC; provide the name, state, and zip code of the recognized organization.
- b. Has completed at least one cohort of the National DPP.
- c. Provide the date you became a Lifestyle Coach, as well as how many and the last time you facilitated a National DPP lifestyle change program cohort.
- d. Demonstrate your expertise in working with populations at greatest risk for type 2 diabetes, including lived experiences and lifestyle interventions.
- e. Provide the name/type and number of advanced coach trainings you've attended.
- f. Demonstrate how you envision putting into practice any new skills that you acquire by attending this convening in the next 3-6 months.
- g. Submit a letter of support stating that your supervisor acknowledges he/she is aware that you are applying for a scholarship and if you are selected, you will be able to travel and fully participate in all activities. Furthermore, upon returning to work from the convening, there will be an opportunity to put the new strategies into place, that will support the enrollment and retention of populations at greatest risk for type 2 diabetes.
